

ABSTRACT

A new cultivar of Dianthus plant named 'DEVON ELISE' that is characterized by compact mounding habit, blue-green foliage and prominently fragrant pink flowers with 5 pronounced dentation of the petals. In combination these traits set 'DEVON ELISE' apart from all other existing varieties of Dianthus known to the inventor.